

SNAPSHOT | Undermining Minnesota's Families

2015 Budget for a Better Minnesota

Minnesotans are among the healthiest and most prosperous people in the United States. And despite a nearly $2 billion surplus, the House Republican budget proposal would eliminate funding for the Statewide Health Improvement Program and the family home visiting program – both of which strengthen our families and communities.

Statewide Health Improvement Program Grants

Since its creation, the Statewide Health Improvement Program (SHIP) has helped Minnesota communities improve health through initiatives like bike and walking paths, nutrition programs, and workplace wellness efforts. The House Republican budget proposal would eliminate funding for the program.

Home visiting for high-risk families

Minnesota provides grants to local communities for family home visiting programs for low-income families. These home visiting programs have been shown to dramatically improve health and well-being, while delivering a five to one return on investment. This year, the House Republican budget would undermine this high-impact program by eliminating grants to local communities.
